THE TEMPERANCE AGITATION.

Through the presence of Dr. McKenzie in Carson, another Temperance revival is promised. As regards these movements of reform, numbers of estimable people can always be found who endorse them, and about the same number of equally estimable people who oppose them. It is a subject upon which the world will differ as long as nature allows grapes to furnish the juice for wine or corn the material for whisky. The temperance advocates present an array of arguments against the use of intoxicating liquors which are absolutely unanswerable. The amount of crime, misery and degradation which result from a habitual indulgence in drink, is simply appalling when fully considered. The mania for drink is transmitted from father to son, and succeeding generations suffer the horrible consequences. While we see an endless amount of trouble produced directly from over-indulgence in liquor, there is much woe which is ever concealed from the sight of the world. Every drinking saloon is a training school for the grave, the gallows, the penitentiary and the poor house; and while this fact is well known and not disputed, it is equally certain that no amount of agitation can ever dam the tide which sweeps its victim to destruction. The liquor traffic is constantly increasing, the number of drinkers swell in proportion, and there is no power on earth capable of stopping it. In order to effectively maintain a crusade against drunkenness, the natures of men must be changed. No amount of moral suasion can save a man whose appetite is stronger than his will. The reformers believe in total abstinence; yet we constantly see worthy Christian women who will drink a social glass of wine and no one questions their respectability on that score. There are thousands of good men who have drunk wine on their tables for years and seem none the worse for it. We find drinkers in every trade, business and profession. To the class of people who call themselves moderate drinkers, it is useless to preach total abstinence sermons. They admit that crime and poverty are fostered by intemperance, but decline to admit that any amount of drink would so affect them; and feel a perfect right to their table wines so long as the effects, if any follow, cause no inconvenience to anybody else. Such people laugh at temperance reform but they really have no right to do so. While such organizations sometimes over-step the bounds of their legitimate jurisdiction to regulate the affairs of people who consider their endeavors an interference, their main purpose is good and if they are able to save one human being from poverty, disease and disgrace, or relieve one family from the incubus of intemperance, their mission has not been vainly followed, and no one should withhold the credit due. If a man by joining such an organization will be enabled to furnish his home better, clothe his children warmer, and pay his debts squarely, he should join without a day's delay. Between the drinking and the total abstinence portion of the community there has always been a wide breach; they sneer and laugh at each other, and at times the most needless and bitter animosities are engendered. This is all wrong; no man should be despised because he declines the overtures of a temperance club, because he drinks liquor, or because he sells it; and no man should be laughed at who is earnestly endeavoring to save his fellow creatures from the frightful results which follow a life of intemperance and debauchery.

It is rumored that the Gazette's editor is Land Appraiser for the Central Pacific Railroad Company and receives a salary of $520 a month for his services. If this is not a fact the Appeal will willingly publish the editor's denial.—APPEAL

Correct, with a slight confusion of figures. The proprietor does the same work for the same pay (not a cent more nor less) that he did for years before he owned the Gazette. The Gazette does the same as it would if it did not work for the Land Department. There is no connection between the Land Department and the Law Department of the railroad, and no connection between the newspaper and the land business of the proprietor of the Gazette.—Reno Gazette

In the APPEAL's article the figures were transposed. The salary, we are informed, is $250 per month.

THE REAGAN BILL.—A letter from Congressman Diggert gives the assurance that the Reagan Bill is by no means dead yet. The anti railroad men are preparing for a fight which will begin on the 24th of the present month. They expect to throw the majority bill out of the window and put the Reagan bill before the House again in the shape of an amendment.

THE PACIFIC LIFE charges that Manager Colton committed suicide because Manager Locke owed him $2,000 which he would not pay. Anybody who would have any business dealings with Locke after what is known of him is better fitted for the other world than this.

The spirit of Emperor Norton is writing letters to the Eureka Sentinel. A good live corpse will be a great help to the Democratic press in the coming campaign.

Ingersoll's lectures are read to the patrons of Austin saloons. This is done, says the projector, in order to disseminate knowledge among the masses.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Republican State Convention of Alabama will meet in May.

Five persons were drowned in the San Francisco Bay on Saturday night.

Tombstone, Arizona, has given an eight year franchise to supply that town with water.

A lodge of the Independent Order of Foresters is about to be organized in Mason Valley.

H. E. Brown, one of the Mendocino gang of outlaws, has been convicted of murder in the first degree.

Charley Tozer, the first Speaker of the Assembly, in Nevada, is now engaged as expert on mines for the New York market.

The earthquake mentioned as having occurred in Secret Canyon Saturday last was felt on the west side of Prospect Mountain.

The Silver State says that the Board of Pardons will be petitioned to commute Hymers' sentence from death to imprisonment for life.

Mrs. Paris of Dayton, found a wildcat in her chicken house the other night, and with great courage seized a pitchfork and killed the beast.

On Sunday last Mrs. George Hamilton of Sacramento, shot Nettie Wickerpeck for seducing her husband. A man with a protector like that may feel safe even in California.

Senator Jones is reported to have invested $100,000 in mining property at Rico, Colorado. The locality is in the Rocky Mountains, in the southwestern corner of Colorado, 400 miles from Denver, and 200 from Santa Fe.

Mr. John C. Calhoun, the only grandson of the South Carolinian, who is at the same time his namesake, is a wealthy planter in Arkansas—which does away with the story that he is a saloon keeper in St. Louis.

J. H. Crenshaw has retired from the control of the Paradise Reporter, as he expresses it, completely besmeared with glory, but with no money. M. H. Warren succeeds him, and the journal will be enlarged and otherwise improved.

Ida Fry, a mulatto girl, has filed a suit for $15,000 damages against F. M. Coker, President of the Bank of the State of Georgia, alleging deliberate seduction. The case is the first one in the history of the State and creates an intense sensation.

Mrs. Smith, the female sand-lot agitator, was recently confronted on the platform by a man who knew her when she ran a boarding house in Carson, and who inquired feelingly as to the state of her Chinese cook's health. The female agitator became indignant and denied the charge at first but, subsequently admitted it.

The Chinese cook of Mrs. Pitcher, wife of the section boss on the Southern Pacific Railroad, residing near Watsonville, was detected by the lady in the act of outraging her little girl. She attacked the scoundrel with a frying pan. He was afterwards arrested and taken to San Juan.

Two Pinte Indians of Austin found an abandoned whisky barrel, and draining off the dregs drank to such an extent that one died, and the other is not likely to recover. It is a well known fact that the whisky at the bottom of a barrel is much stronger than that above, and such proved to be the fact in the case in question, though it is probable that the Indians drank enough to kill an ordinary man if it was the best whisky ever distilled.

Jupiter can yet be seen for a few moments after sunset, but will disappear entirely in a few days. Saturn is following rapidly, and his beautiful white light will soon be shut off by his near approach to the sun. Mars will long be visible, his red light hanging in the zenith early in the evening; and near to him, a few degrees to the north, is the brilliant red star Aldebaran, a star of the first magnitude in the constellation Taurus.

The Grand Prize mill will start up sometime during the present month, on ore from the company's mine. About 250 tons have already been extracted and there is enough in sight in the stores at the 250, 320, 400 and 500 foot levels to increase that quantity, at the lowest estimate, to 500 tons, independent of any other developments which in the meantime may be made. The ore is both chloride and sulphuret, and ten stamps will be run upon each.

THE APPEAL says there is nothing in the reported sale of the Virginia & Truckee railroad to the Central Pacific Company. The whole thing, that journal asserts, was gotten up to help along the Sharon Senatorial boom. No necessity for that. Sharon's speech will sweep the country like wildfire.—Eureka Sentinel

The Chronicle suggests that Sharon's speech should be printed on satin paper and distributed to his admirers. Is this correct for a man who so seldom sates his chair?

The Czar of Russia may never die by the hand of assassins, but he is as liable as any other man to fall down the cellar stairs of the Palace some night and break his neck.

Daffodils are said to be in bloom down about Carson.—Chronicle

The above is a copper-rivited lie. The thermometer is below freezing point and no vegetation of any description has dared to show its head here this season.
